

From the Home of Kris Kringle.

Believe the Label That Alone Tells You When You Have Genuine Mother's Bread.

Easy enough to copy the shape of Mother's Bread—but impossible to copy the quality and the label. The one is the result of a scientific study of bread-making—the other is protected by law.

Not a doubt in the world but that you have had a substitute bread sold to you for Mother's Bread. Substitutes have ever been offered (unwittingly) to people connected with this bakery. The only way to tell Mother's Bread (until you eat it) is by the label!

RECOMMENDED BY OVER A THOUSAND GROCERS.
RECOMMENDED BY HOUSEWIVES EVERYWHERE.
RECOMMENDED BY THE SUCCESS IT HAS MADE.

MOTHER'S BREAD is always fresh. A grocer can't sell a stale loaf of it, as we deliver fresh bread three times a day, and take away all loaves left over. Seldom any left over, though.

MOTHER'S BREAD is a health food in a way. It has all the deliciousness that makes it the most perfect bread that can be baked, and at the same time contains 20 per cent more gluten than can be developed in bread mixed by any other process.

Always Look for the Label.
